CLINTON HIGH SCHOOL

C. H. S.

Memorabilia

Introduction

Three years and nine months ago, there came upon this High School a new class, conceived in the grammar schools and dedicated to the acquisition of knowledge and wisdom.

Now we are to be engaged in the great war of life, to test whether our class, or any class, so conceived and so dedicated can long be endured by the rest of the world—and thereby hangs a tale.

Being about to leave dear old Clinton High forever, we wish to resolve that we shall never forget what our Alma Mater has done for us, and that we shall always remember the happy hours spent at school and at the various extra-curricular activities attached to it.

To aid us in adhering to this resolution, we have compiled this book, Memorabilia XVIII. We sincerely hope that this book will be appreciated and that the time we have spent in its creation shall not have been given in vain.

Tribute to the Faculty

In but a few more days, we, the Class of '31, shall be leaving the halls and classrooms of dear old Clinton High to face with a new knowledge the world and its hardships. This knowledge will carry everyone of us a great distance, and in the future we will look fondly back and think of those who so patiently and painstakingly instilled that learning. In order to freshen our memories often and to keep their faces, as we knew them, clear from the ravages of time, we, the Class of '31, dedicate the following pages to "OUR FACULTY."

Beyond

Look beyond the ridge, friend
And see the flaming light;
Then take up your pack, friend
And venture into the night.

The road lies straight before you
It's dark and rough, I know;
But the rougher the start, friend
The smoother the end will go.

The darker the night should seem
The brighter yon goal will be;
So lift high your hopes, friend
And you'll see the things to see.

If Despair should seek to hinder
Mind what Ambition saith
"Let Work and Hope be your guide
And Success the fruit of your Faith."

"Had a tongue at will and yet was never loud"

LORA PAULINE ADLER

Commercial Course

History Circle

Favorite Expression: "And-ah." Favorite Occupation: Studying.

First in our fine class book, we have Lora and we are very fortunate indeed to have such a fine and brilliant example of our class of '31 on the first page to tempt our readers further along.

Lora, you know, comes all the way from Bolton every morning to attend C. H. S. and even though she lives "out of town" she rarely misses a day. When she is missing from a class we immediately wonder two things—if she is very ill, or if Bolton is snowed in.

And when we have an assembly for giving out testimonials, we always see Lora walk up for her share of the honors for she is one of the best students in the class. But don't think that this fact affects her disposition. For those of us who know her intimately can vouch for the fact that she can be "plenty hilarious" when she wishes. She has a rare sense of humor and a burst of laughter may often be heard issuing from her group of friends during recess.

Another reason why she has so many friends is her readiness to help out her classmates concerning studies—especially homework. She never says "no" to any such request. We are sure that such willingness to help will carry her far. All we can say is Best of Luck from '31, Lora.

"For manners are not idle, but the fruit
Of loyal nature, and of noble mind"

ELIZABETH NOBLE BARKER

"Betty" "Bet"

Commercial Course

History Circle; Junior Prom Committee

Favorite Expression: "You're awful." Favorite Occupation: Taking care of "Dot."

One of our nicest, best liked and most obliging girls is "Betty." She is so obliging, we just don't know what we would do without her.

"Bet" is a commercial student and she can generally be seen carrying a Stenography book when she leaves school. She is always the first one to walk up the aisle to receive that big testimonial, and how she loves to go!

We doubt if you will ever see "Bet" and "Dot" when they are not together. It's just too bad when "Dot" isn't there. We wonder if they could walk home and back without each other.

We are afraid "Betty" isn't going to make a good wife for a big man for whenever you offer her anything to eat she always says that she is on a diet. We think "Betty's" great ambition is to drive a car. Why doesn't someone teach her?

She is one of the lucky girls who can say "Which one shall I wear?" while the rest of us unfortunates are pondering what we will wear. "Betty" is also one of those lucky girls who can have their fun without allowing it to interfere with her school work.

"Betty" intends to enter business school and if she sticks to the ambition she has shown in C. H. S., we will not be surprised to hear that she is an outstanding figure in the business world.

"Throw physic(s) to the dogs; I'll none of it"

GEORGE ELLIOT BARNES

"Barnsey" "Brains"

Technical Course

Manager of Football Team 4; Assistant Manager Football Team 3; Assistant Stage Manager of Senior Show; Treasurer of Le Cercle Francais 4; Tau Sigma; Reception Committee of Junior Prom; Junior Marshal; History Circle; Class Book Staff; Student Guest of Rotary Club.

Favorite Expression: "Got a car?" Favorite Occupation: Throwing apples at road signs.

Despite a few battle scars and added wrinkles, George has weathered the storm in four years. He has shown many a teacher that he was a good scholar, while it was hard to convince a few others of the fact.

A genial good humor, a smiling countenance, and a ready wit, combined with real ability and the faculty of adopting a serious mien when the occasion demands, and we have enumerated George's chief characteristics.

George has found time to lend his assistance on various class committees and activities. As manager of the Varsity Football team, he has contributed his share toward supporting his Alma Mater in extra-curricular activities.

"Barnsey," the man of cars, and yet of all cars, he likes his own the best. There are a good many times when George has not been stalled or stuck in the road and yet there are also a number of times when he has been. (?) With his Valentino smoothness and his amiable manner, to say nothing of his car, George has made a host of friends, among whom are many of the opposite sex.

His career at C. H. S. has been very successful in every way and we can predict with certainty that George and Success will walk hand in hand, after he has been graduated, and has matriculated at Dartmouth, his chosen Alma Mater.

"His cares are now all ended"

DAVID NORMAN BEDRICK

"Dave" "Normie" "Taxi"

College Course

Minstrel Show 1-4; Junior Prom Committee; Tau Sigma; History Circle;
French Club 2-4; Debating Society; Varsity Football 3-4.

Favorite Expression: "Oh, I forgot." Favorite Occupation: Riding in taxis

Surely everyone knows "Dave." There isn't anything that he doesn't get his face into. He is a happy-go-lucky sort of a chap—always smiling at someone and he very seldom gets angry. Whenever there is anything going on in the school you'll be sure to find "Dave" among the fun-makers.

But aside from fun-making, we can't say that "Dave" and studies mix so well. He thinks that studying is all right, but that other things are better. However, he plans to get right to work and get through some prep school, and then on to college. We know that "Dave" can make good if he wants to.

If you have ever gone down to Fuller's field, you have seen "Dave" playing end on the varsity football team. He has played a nice, steady game.

"Dave" is always well-dressed and neat looking, but one's beard would grow in the space of time it takes "Dave" to put on his glad rags.

One of "Dave's" weaknesses is French. Once upon a time he was a great French student but now he speaks French several different ways, none of which the teachers approve. Just now "Dave" is studying anatomy and who knows maybe some day he will be a doctor. Whatever he takes up, he will win out if he puts his heart into it. Lots of luck, "Dave," from '31.

HELEN MARGARET BOERNER

College Course

Interclass Dramatics 3-4; History Circle; Secretary of Le Cercle Francais; Senior Show; Assistant Editor-in-Chief of Class Book; Junior Prom Committee; Honorary Member of Clinton Historical Society; Honorary Member of Clinton Women's Club.

Favorite Expression: "Who cares?" Favorite Occupation: Being good.

Just a happy-go-lucky and carefree girl, full of pep, vim and vigor, and with more than enough intelligence.

Helen is one of the brilliant members of the class—and they are few among many. Every quarter she managed to obtain a generous supply of testimonials, although she made no direct attempt to obtain them. Intelligence more than effort, it seems, has placed her among the highly rated students of the class of '31.

Now, just to look at Helen, and know her simply by being in her class, is not enough to fully know and understand her. In fact, some people are entirely deceived. She looks like a quiet girl whose delights lie in reading novels, embroidering, etc. But she really isn't. Of course she enjoys novels and such things, but that is not the full extent of her joys and delights. Her intimate friends will assure you of that. She is not quiet, but is rather full of fun.

Her plans for the future are not as yet fully decided upon, but we are most certain that she'll rank high in any career that is to her liking. She has surely proved that during her High School career. We are confident that some day in the near future we'll be singing praises to her intelligence in still louder voices than we are now. You may be sure, Helen, that '31 knows you'll come out on the top, which gives us a very good reason to wish you success.

HELEN PATRICIA BOISSONEAU

"Buzzie"

Normal Course

History Circle; Musical Comedy 1; Glee Club 1; Hiking Club 1; Eta Nu Gamma 3; Basketball 3.

Favorite Expression: "What does it matter?" Favorite Occupation: Talking to—in English 3.

We next come to Helen, one of the most popular girls in the class. It may easily be said of Helen that she is as popular with the girls as with the boys.

"Buzzie" attended all the High School socials with a "certain party." She is a great lover of dancing and never lacks a charming partner. Helen played inter-class basketball during her sophomore and junior years and was one of the big reasons why her class was always the winner.

Judging from the number of clubs which claim Helen as a member, she is extremely sociable. If you don't love the club work, talk to Helen for awhile and come away satisfied.

In the freshman minstrel show, Helen tried out her theatrical ability and certainly showed that she could give Ann Pennington a run for her fame. However, Helen declared the bright lights have no allure for her.

There is no one we shall miss more or remember longer than our Helen. Farewell, Helen, best wishes for success and happiness in the years to come.

"Eat, drink, and be merry for tomorrow we die"

IRENE CREVIER BRENNAN

Commercial Course

History Circle; Eta Nu Gamma; Musical Comedy 1-2-3; Hiking Club 1; Inter-class Basketball 1-2; Track 1-2.

Favorite Expression: "Ca'm yourself." Favorite Occupation: Torturing words.

Irene is one of those brilliants who have successfully completed their High School course in three years. And to make such a feat seem even more impossible for the rest of us she has always maintained a very high standing, scholastically in our class. We honestly believe that Irene could paper a room, and a large one at that, with the testimonials she has received while at Clinton High.

But at no time could Irene be classified as a grind for we know that while she must put in some time on her lessons, still she found plenty of time to take part in practically every school activity. And it must have taken some time to compose all those verses that she has—and if you don't think they are good just look at the masterpiece at the beginning of the Senior writeups.

Irene could not, however, be classified as one of our quiet girls. She was usually in on any merriment and did more than her share to add to the fun. We won't say that Irene is noisy but will merely note that her voice is well-known up in the hall. Draw your own conclusions.

Irene has been an enthusiastic supporter of all the High School clubs—and has had much experience as a radio broadcaster on History Circle programs. She has labored hard and unceasingly as a member of our Class Book Staff and has contributed many articles to make this class book a success.

"A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any market"

ALICE RITA BRODRICK

"Al"

College Course

History Circle; Le Cercle Francais; Eta Nu Gamma 3; Musical Comedy 2-3; Minstrel Show 1.

---

Favorite Expression: "Oh, squash." Favorite Occupation: Making wize-kraks.

The only thing blue about Alice is the color of her eyes. She is joy personified. Her smile is always present, and her sense of humor never misses the funny side of anything.

Studying has no charms for "Al," but she does study (?) now and then. Usually Latin claims her attention. In fact, she is one of the fortunate eleven who has struggled through Latin 4. Let that speak for itself.

However, pleasure has charms for Alice and a social event isn't complete without her presence. "Sitting in a corner" is unknown to Alice's vocabulary or experience.

Alice believes in living in the present, and so has no definite plans as yet for the future but we have our suspicions, that she has dreams of becoming a poetess or authoress, some day. However, when she does come to a decision, we know she will work and win with a smile. A combination of those qualities of yours can lead to but one thing, Alice, and the whole class joins in wishing you the same thing—Success.

MARY THERESE BURGOYNE

"Mae B" "Mae"

Normal Course

Glee Club 1-2; Hiking Club 1; French Club 2; Le Cercle Francais; History Circle; Musical Comedy 2; Minstrel Show 1; Junior Prom Committee; Eta Nu Gamma 3.

Favorite Expression: "Gee, no." Favorite Occupation: Writing best themes in English 4.

Who has not often heard her laugh ringing out in the hall? Every recess will find Mary's desk surrounded and Mary's voice and laugh resounding. For Mary is one of our interesting girls, those who can laugh and joke, and still like the teachers.

Mary is a U. S. shark and an English shark, too, so we've heard. She is one of the Hill girls, and a true product of the Hill she's proved, for every quarter she will be seen walking away with a few of the coveted testimonials in her hand.

But that doesn't prevent her from having a good time. As all know, "Mae" is very popular, especially with the opposite sex. No one will ever see her posing as a "wall flower" at any social or dance.

Well, Mary, you may go assured that C. H. S. will miss you, and that 1931 extends the best of wishes for your happiness in the future.

"Blushing is the color of virtue"

MAE DELIA BURGWINKLE

"Babe"

Commercial Course

Eta Nu Gamma 3; History Circle.

Favorite Expression: "I've got my bookkeeping to do." Favorite Occupation: Blushing.

Upon glancing at "Mae's" picture, you get the impression that she is one of the dignified members of our class. But ah! how deceiving appearances can be. Hasn't she selected the rear of the hall for her permanent abode during her senior year and those who know can tell you of the dignified (?) seniors back there.

Mae certainly shows speed in her stenography class, both in taking dictation and in transcribing it. It is rumored that in bookkeeping she is a shark. Mae never has to worry about handing her work in on time. As a proof of her scholastic ability, it was a rare occasion when we did not see Mae at the end of a quarter or a mid-year, relieve Mr. Cobb of his heavy burden of testimonials.

She always had some alibi to keep her out of scrapes. Her success was especially notable in passing up "gym."

As to her plans for the future, we are as yet in the dark. Probably "Babe" is, too, for that matter. However, she has lots of ambition and more ability so that we have every reason to expect a rosy future for her.

ANNE FRANCES BURKE

"Alma"

Commercial Course

History Circle; Eta Nu Gamma 3; Musical Comedy 2-3; Minstrel Show 1;
Hiking Club 1; Interclass Basketball 1-2.

Favorite Expression: "I dunno." Favorite Occupation: Listening to details, from Irene.

Let us introduce one of our newcomers, Anne Burke. Many of us may not need an introduction because Anne's personality is such that many of us know her. Anne comes from the Class of 1932 with which she originally began, but she evidently recognized that the Class of 1931 had some desirable points so she's with us now.

Anne is taking her four year course and doing it in three, a lot of extra work that most of us wouldn't attempt. She was taking six subjects, among which were three histories, but she didn't get her dates mixed because Irene was right there to remind her of them.

"Alma" and "Cleo" are almost always to be seen together and we'll wager they had plenty to talk about (?). We often wonder just what they are talking about but still we never venture to ask. I wonder why?

Anne is bound to be somebody's helpmate (in an office, of course), and she's going to succeed, with her willingness to help. The best wishes of 1931 are following her.

FRANCIS CAMPBELL BURKE

"Burkey" "Frank" "Boikey"

College Course

History Circle; Senior Show Committee; French Club 2; Junior Marshal; Football 3-4; Interclass Basketball 1.

Favorite Expression: "C'mon." Favorite Occupation: Fixing the car.

Let us now stop and focus our gaze on "Boikey," one of the most popular members of our class.

Four years ago, Francis entered the portals of C. H. S. with the rest of us. It wasn't long, however, until Francis started making friends, until now he is a very prominent member of our class.

"Frank" is a quiet and reserved boy most of the time, but occasionally he departs from his regular routine of life and joins the "gang," as it were. Maybe, some of the boys could tell about flag-poles, airport signs, etc., but let us get back to the real boy himself.

"Burkey" is one of our foremost athletes, playing football the last two years, and is a hockey player, "nuff" said. He may be seen on many of our cold winter afternoons, skimming over the ice down at the Nashua River.

As for the fair sex, this boy does not bother much, in which respect he is very fortunate.

"Boikey" is undecided as to his future plans but no matter where you go, Francis, always remember the Class of '31 is pulling for you.

GERALD FRANCIS CARLISLE

"Jerry" "Gup"

General Course

Football 1; Captain 2-3-4; Class Ring Committee 3; Junior Prom Committee: President of Tau Sigma; President of French Club 2; History Circle; Student Guest of Rotary Club; Musical Comedy.

Favorite Expression: "Where's Doc?" Favorite Occupation: Riding horses.

Three times captain of Clinton's Football team! There's a record hard to beat and an evidence of what we think of Jerry. He's our idea of a real football player. Nervy, courageous, playing the game every minute, not for the stands, not for victory at any price, but for good sport and for the game's sake.

The fact that "Gup" was chosen president of Tau Sigma is good evidence of what the fellows think of his manners, and explain why it can be said truly that he "graces" many a social function, both here and there.

It has been noticed, however, although Jerry has not shown any signs of scholastic difficulties, that he burns no midnight oil over his text books which he faithfully takes home, sometimes.

Jerry is a "regular guy" and we feel sure that his future will be a success because of his ability to make and hold friends, and because of those solid good qualities which have made him so popular with us.

JAMES JOSEPH CARR

"Jim"

College Course

History Circle

Favorite Expression: "In my opinion——." Favorite Occupation: Debating.

This contented and serious countenance is that of James Carr—our foremost leader in politics. This is the boy who will make good. For "Jim" is bound to be successful with those successful arguments he uses in U. S. History. Can this boy talk? I should say so. He's got all arguments bottled up and corked, so that when he starts, everyone else gives up.

"Jim" is one of the newcomers and he certainly is appreciated. He saves the day in English, in U. S. History—in fact, in everything.

Every quarter he wears down the aisle in the Town Hall, when he relieves Mr. Cobb of the weighty testimonials. No wonder he's appreciated.

"Jim" has proved to be very popular for a newcomer and who wouldn't with a line of talk like that?

He has hosts of friends and all of these as well as the whole class wish him the best of luck.

HERMAN WILLIAM CHANDLER

Commercial Course

Freshman Basketball; Junior Prom Committee; Musical Comedy 1-2; Le Cercle Francais; History Circle.

Favorite Expression: "Heck, I dunno." Favorite Occupation: Drawing.

Herman is a very quiet conservative sort of boy in school, but being so in school does not mean he is so everywhere. His genial disposition made him a friend among friends.

Never did a quarter pass but what Herman always managed to get his name on the testimonial list. "Hermey" certainly had exceptional ability when it came to drawing. His cartoons and sketches would always set the observer into stitches as he could put funny ideas in form of pictures.

"Hermey's" loyalty was never found lacking. He always gave his best support (a good loud voice) to the athletes. He always displayed fine school spirit, being willing at any time to lend a helping hand to his schoolmates.

And so "Hermey," we of '31 will be with you 'till the sands of the desert grow cold.

AGNES TERESA CONLON

College Course

Le Cercle Francais; Eta Nu Gamma 3; History Circle; Secretary of Debating Society 1; Junior Prom Committee; Minstrel Show 1.

Favorite Expression: "What, again?" Favorite Occupation: Going to the Post Office.

Agnes is one of the quietest and most generous girls in our class. She is a member of almost all the clubs and is an enthusiastic spectator at most of our High School games.

At recess, one may see her diligently studying her Ancient History for next period. She is rewarded for her efforts by receiving a testimonial every quarter. Of course, we know that Agnes puts at least one hour on it every night and is only refreshing her memory at recess.

One of Agnes's hobbies is going to the post office for the mail and to Finnerly's news room for the "Daily Mirror." By this we do not mean that Agnes is a letter carrier or newspaper girl, No, far from it. We all know the mail and papers are for her family only, and not for all Burditt Hill. Don't we?

Agnes is a happy-go-lucky person, always in that happy-go-lucky way. She is forever merry and joyous and when she is around, she radiates this feeling to others. No wonder we're happy.

Agnes is intending to go to Fitchburg Normal School when she graduates. The sincerest wishes of the Class of '31 for a successful career go with her.

Favorite Expression: "For cracking ice cream." Favorite Occupation: Ringing up nickels and dimes at the 5 & 10.

If everyone possessed Margaret's ability to get things done, and her ambition, what a world this would be! Steady and reliable are two adjectives which must have been created especially for her. She is one of those standbys when it comes to knowing her lessons.

"Connie" certainly knew her history and never failed to hand in the best theme every week. How she manages to accomplish so much in a day, is still a mystery to most of us, if not all of us. Let's attribute it to her executive ability (?).

We are indebted to her for her faithful work on the class book staff. Margaret is a good typist for she has shown it by all the typing she has done to help make the class book a success.

Margaret intends to go to some commercial school, presumably Fairchild's to further her business education as a private secretary. Success from the class of '31.

Normal Course

History Circle; Minstrel Show 1; Hiking Club 1; Junior Prom Committee;

Favorite Expression: "Just imagine." Favorite Occupation: Talking about her conquests.

We now come to "Rita," a girl who needs no introduction. When we think of "Rita" we can only recall those characteristics which are of the finest: a sunny disposition, a pleasing personality, a lovable nature and a willingness to help whenever we stand in need of it.

"Rita" may be seen at all the socials and dances and is never seen standing alone, which may be due to the fact that she is a great lover of dancing and she can surely trip the light fantastic.

"Rita" does not take us into her confidence concerning her outside activities but when we see her and "Edie" talking each morning, with their heads together, our curiosity is aroused and we wonder.

Lessons never seemed to bother "Rita," but she always managed to get by.

Farewell, "Rita," the class of 1931 extends to you its best wishes for success and happiness in future years.

Football 2-4; President of Le Cercle Francais; History Circle; Tau Sigma; Musical Comedy 4; Chairman of Junior Prom Committee; Senior Show Committee; Orchestra; Class Book Staff.

Favorite Expression: "Be good." Favorite Occupation: Blowing the Sax.

Here he is, "Al" Conti, the boy who is the originator of the Saxophone Talk.

"Al" has shown his skill in all trades during his four years at C. H. S. His first two years he showed the teachers how to get testimonials. But then some how or other something happened. His Junior year he displayed his "pep" at the Sax especially up at Foresters' Hall. And how! Finally his Senior year "Al" demonstrated his ability on the gridiron. He was one of our flashy backs.

"Al" comes from Lancaster but don't let that disillusion you. He is an all around regular fellow who wouldn't pass up a good time because of studies.

Oh yes, "Al" leads our French Club. And do we become silent when he steps up on the platform!

With the fair sex "Al" also is very prominent. That's probably because of his "Sax" appeal.

"Al's" good nature gets him many friends as you can see during his past life.

"Al" intends to enter Cornell next year. The Class of '31 wishes you loads of luck "Al."

Favorite Expression: "Such a Calamity!" Favorite Occupation: Plumbing.

Look, who now holds the center of the stage; it's none other than John Coyle, one of the most prominent boys in our class. And there's good reason why, John is a conscientious worker, but he always finds time to amuse his friends with his winning ways.

"Piper" is a faithful student and although he hasn't received a bushel of testimonials, still his work has been satisfactory and he always manages to get by.

"Johnnie" is very fond of dramatics and never misses any of the plays if he can help it. He has shown his class spirit by being a participant in some of its plays and you can bet that he was a success.

John has taken up a Technical Course and he intends to continue his studies at Clark University. We know that he will succeed in whatever branch of studies he takes up. That old stick-to-it spirit of his is a quality most of us lack—and is bound to lead him to ultimate success. Always follow that rule, John, of "On my honor, I will do my best, etc." and success is bound to follow. '31 wishes the best of luck to a real scout and a regular fellow.

HAROLD JOSEPH DUNN

"Har" "Dunnie" "Miler"

Commercial Course

History Circle; French Club 2; Interclass Track 1-2-3-4.

Favorite Expression: "How should I know?" Favorite Occupation: Climbing Burditt Hill.

We place Harold among the best natured members of the class; quiet, unassuming, but always friendly and ready to lend assistance in matters concerning homework. "Har" was never the instigator of any disturbance. He was always "sober, steadfast, and demure."

Please do not get the idea that "Miler" is an angelic creature personified. He has had his share of fun; he listens to the chatter of the rest of us and certainly enjoys a good joke.

"Har" did not participate in school activities to any great extent, but no track meet would have been complete without him there to win the "Mile" for our class.

Harold has a love for books. He reads all the latest fiction as soon as it comes off the press and therefore, if you ever want advance information about a book, "Har" is the man to see.

As all things must come to an end, we must now close this little impromptu sketch and join in wishing "Dunnie" lots of luck in his chosen vocation. The best wishes of '31 accompany you, "Har."

"Doug" "Dougie"

Commercial Course

Class Ring Committee; Interclass Basket Ball 1.

Favorite Expression: "I have no words." Favorite Occupation: Growing.

"Doug" is one of the diminutive members of our class but then, "good things come in small packages." "Doug" has earned his share of testimonials and we find him a wonderful source of information when it comes to class-work.

We find "Dougie" one of those fellows who are generally considered quiet but those of us who know him well have a different opinion. In truth he is quite a lively little fellow under a mask of solitude. Even in school we find him in class breaking through this mask much to the surprise of his teachers.

For a number of years "Doug" has kept us thinking that he was girl-shy but those of us who know him more intimately know different.

"Dougie" is very popular among his classmates and his teachers can find very little or no fault with him.

"Doug" because of his small stature found it quite healthy as a spectator in regard to High School sports. However we find George an out-door man and often spot him toting a shot gun over his shoulder on his way to or returning from a hunt.

"Dougie's" vocation is undecided as yet, but whatever pursuit he follows we of '31 are confident of his success. Here's luck "Doug" and every bit, the best.

JOHN LEO FALLON

Debating Society 2; Musical Comedy 2; Junior Marshal; Junior Prom Committee; Tau Sigma; Le Cercle Francais; History Circle; Assistant Manager of Football Team 3-4; Stage Manager of Senior Show.

Favorite Expression: "Yeh, I guess." Favorite Occupation: Asking questions.

Being a rather quiet youth, John did not have his arrival announced with a flourish of trumpets, but it did not take his fellow-students long to get acquainted with him and set him down as a fine fellow.

Once initiated into High School life, nothing seemed able to interrupt the even tenor of Johnny's progress through school. He has met the inevitable little difficulties incident to life, with a smile.

Anyone who knows John feels that he has been personally benefited by having him as a friend. And John is a friend to everyone, too. His unassuming manner and cheerful disposition, coupled with plenty of real ability, have made him deservedly popular. Just look over the above list and you will realize the truth of this statement. It shows that Johnny in his quest for knowledge has not retired from the lesser activities of scholastic life.

Faithful in his work, enthusiastic in his play, and a favorite with all, John faces the future with every prospect of giving his best and receiving the best the world has to offer in return. May he succeed, and may his life ever be pleasant.

Favorite Expression: "I never get discouraged." Favorite Occupation: Smiling.

Oh, here she is, "Ev's" other half. For did you ever see Anna without Evelyn? She is one of those good-natured girls, and is full of fun—for what causes all the commotion up in back, (when Mr. Gordon is trying to take attendance)? It's just "Anne" telling another of her jokes.

Although "Anne" never got gray because of over-study, she always managed not to receive any of those monthly greeting cards through the mail.

We mustn't forget to mention the fact that "Anne" is athletically inclined and a real sport. She will try anything once, or even twice, for that matter, as shown by her participation in the Track Meet in her first two years.

"Mickie" was always interested in health matters, which is probably why she very seldom missed a day since she entered High School, and also why she intends to become a nurse.

Class of '31 wishes you the best of luck in your new profession.

Favorite Expression: "Oh deah!" Favorite Occupation: Talking to Anna.

Is there anyone who doesn't know that "petite miss" with the long black curls? She may be seen at recess in the hall pondering over her Latin (her favorite subject?) despite the pleading of friend Margaret.

Evelyn is one of the three musketeers. "Ann," "Eve" and "Peg" are surely full of fun and always ready to lend a helping hand.

As to studying, "Ev" does quite a bit but don't get the idea that Evelyn spends ALL her time studying—far from it. She is always present at our socials and she surely can enjoy them. Also, "Eve" spends some of her time learning the technique of "tap dancing." We hope that she'll be a great success some day in this endeavor.

Well "Eve" there's too much to say about you on one little page, so before I make another break, I'll stop. 1931 wishes you the best of luck in trying to teach little "tots" their A, B, C's.

BERNICE VALERIA GENAKIS

"Babe"

Minstrel Show 1.

Favorite Expression: "Ok, Ok, Ok." Favorite Occupation: Hiking.

Someone told me that the demure looking little miss whose likeness smiles at you from this page is quite a hiker. Whether it's true or not—we do know—that Bernice gets plenty of practice in this form of athletics in her daily jaunts to and from school.

With her very close friend, Mary, she may be seen any day going home from school, and it is seldom that one is seen without the other. Strange as it might seem both of those girls have brothers in the Class of '31, but we suppose that that fact is only one more reason why Bernice and Mary chum together.

Bernice did not worry too much over her school work for worry only produces wrinkles, and who wants wrinkles? But she did do enough to maintain a good standing in the class, and we know that her willingness to help others at any time was greatly appreciated by those who asked her help.

In school Bernice was an ideal pupil in that she never caused the teachers any trouble. When we look back and think what pests we were at times, we respect all the more pupils like Bernice, who tried to keep out of all trouble.

As to her future plans—we can't say much—Bernice has not confided in us in that respect. We hear that she leans toward music. Maybe she'll follow along those lines—who knows? But whatever it is, Bernice, '31 wishes you success and we know you'll be a credit to our class.

JOSEPH MICHAEL GENAKIS

"Joe"

Commercial Course

History Circle; French Club 2; Musical Comedy 2.

Favorite Expression: "Aw, no." Favorite Occupation: Learning to know his groceries.

Lo! and behold "Joe," the rapid fire talker. Listen to him talk for a few minutes and try to keep track of the stream of adjectives, pronouns, and whatnots that bounce against your ears in a veritable torrent. When "Joe" thinks of anything it must be made audible immediately; consequently we reason that he must be quite a fast thinker.

Regarding studies and girls, it seems that "Joe's" position is about midway between these two very sharply opposed "subjects." This position, by the way, is fortunate because it is inexpensive and, at the same time, not too boring.

"Joe's" wisecracks have helped to enliven an already very lively U. S. History Period, but many of us are still in doubt whether said wisecracks were intentional on "Joe's" part or not.

"Joe" has not definitely decided upon his course after leaving dear old Clinton High, but whatever calling he follows, we of '31 are hoping for his success.

So long, "Joe," and Good Luck!

EDWARD ANTHONY GIBBONS

"Ed" "Eddie" "Gibbie"

College Course

Interclass Basketball 1; Minstrel Show 1; History Circle.

Favorite Expression: "Gee." Favorite Occupation: Fishing.

If silence is golden, then gather round "Eddie" for he is the millionaire of the class. We have often wondered where "Ed" obtains the vast amount of silence that he bestows on anybody or everybody. It is probable that his love for fishing has something to do with it, but we have never been able to discover whether "Gibbie" likes fishing because of his desire for quiet or whether he loves silence because of his liking for fishing. Another subject of wonder to us is how Edward & Edwin communicate when they go on one of their "big game" hunting expeditions; neither of them seems to be willing to employ his tongue to any great extent.

Regardless of this lack of the "gift of gab," "Gibbie" is known to all of us and is well liked—perhaps because he never causes anybody discomfort or trouble.

"Edward" and "Edwin" are the two confirmed woman haters of our class. What wouldn't we give for a picture of either of them talking to a girl! Such a picture would make this Class Book famous.

However, "Great Caesar fell" and so may "Gibbie," but at any rate, the Class of '31 hopes for the best and we all wish him the best of fortune.

"Dot"

Normal Course

Favorite Expression: "Gosh—gee." Favorite Occupation: Foresters.

We next introduce to you one of our well-known and well-liked classmates.

"Dot" is a true version of that old saying, so widely used in class books, "Good things come in small packages." "Dot" is one of our happy classmates who rapidly won many friends by her ready smile, and good nature.

Could anyone ever imagine "Dot" passing up a good time for an evening of hard study? She never worried much but she certainly "got there."

Try to imagine "Dot" around without her faithful chum "Betty." It's almost an impossibility.

"Dot" certainly does like her sports. Very few football games or basketball games were played without "Dot" on the side-lines cheering the boys on to victory.

Dorothy intends to continue her studies at Fairchild's. Whew! what a relief, we thought for awhile her destination would be normal school and who can picture "our fair Dot" as a stern teacher? The Class of '31 certainly wishes her luck as "Somebody's Stenog."

Favorite Expression: "What's doing?" Favorite Occupation: Being witty."

Now we turn the spotlight on James, one of the most popular boys of our class.

James is the eccentric business manager of the class book and he may be seen hustling about town in quest of "ads;" one of the reasons our class book is such a success. (We hope the reader does not disagree about that "success" part).

During his stay of four years in our great "Institution of Knowledge," he has managed to pull down his share of testimonials. He is well known for his quick wit and any class of which he is a member is never lacking in laughter (WITH him, not AT him).

James is always willing to help anyone of his fellow students who may be in need of advice. He is planning to enter Worcester Tech, where he plans to take up mechanical engineering. Some day, we expect to hear that James has built some great machine which will be the marvel of the ages.

Farewell, "Jim," and the Class of '21 feels sure that you will succeed in your chosen life's work.

Favorite Expression: "Gosh." Favorite Occupation: Smiling, laughing, ROARING.

Here we have "Russ," one of the happy-go-lucky, fun loving fellows whom everybody likes because of their propensity for stirring up fun—and how!

If you have ever been near Room 7 during the Solid & Trig. period, you may have wondered what the joke was to inspire the avalanche of laughter emanating from "Ray's" sanctum. Here's the secret: The joke was "Gossie"—er, I beg your pardon—I mean the joke was some bright (?) remark by "Gossie."

In athletics, he has been seen for the past two years as a tower of strength filling up the left guard position on the Varsity football team. He is also very active on the baseball team.

In dramatics, "Gossie" was also quite busy. Shall we ever forget his portrayal of "Big Jim Mitchell" in the Senior Show?

"Russ's" social activities are many and varied. He is always in demand at parties and has seldom been known to miss a dance.

Good luck, "Russ" and be assured that we will miss you.

Favorite Expression: "Three guesses; first two don't count." Favorite Occupation: Running pell-mell to the hall.

Who is that quiet girl who sits in the back of the hall? It is no one else than Janet. But why should one think her quiet, for how many times has Mr. McGraill spoken to her?

"Yanet" is gifted with the book of know'edge but does not want to use this book to excess, for fear of wearing out the print. It is because she is good natured that she lets others have the privilege of getting testimonials, while she sits back and incidentally saves shoe leather.

"Amos" never seems any too early. She comes in about one or two seconds before the tardy bell. Yet no one has ever suspected that the night before had anything to do with it. And maybe it didn't. Although, we wonder?

Every recess she will be seen with Margaret going down to Newberry's for "eats." All of her friends will be seen as soon as she appears at the top of the stairs. And all seem to get their share and are pleased.

A commercial student, she is, as all know, as she's as talkative as popular. Her vaulting ambition is to go to Framingham Normal and become a domestic science teacher. Good luck, "Janie."

Favorite Expression: "Oh, yeah!" Favorite Occupation: Sleeping in U. S. History.

"Billy" is one of the best liked fellows in our class. His undying humor and everlasting wit is one of the reasons for his popularity with all members of our class.

When it comes to attendance at all school functions "Bill" should get a testimonial for he rates high in attendance.

"Bill" believes that constant use of books only wears them out and makes one eligible for fines. That's an idea for the rest of us poor mortals to dwell on. Never-the-less "Billy" usually does what is expected of him scholastically and seems to have no great difficulty in getting by.

We would surely miss "Bill" if he were not in some of our classes, particularly French. His quaint sayings and humorous remarks keep us all on edge at times.

We have not heard definitely as to "Bill's" plans for the future, but whatever he does or wherever he goes we know that he'll uphold '31. Good luck, "Bill."

Favorite Expression: "Phooey on girls." Favorite Occupation: Hunting.

The grave and dignified countenance depicted above belongs to "Ed," the other half of that exceedingly untalkative combination of "Ed" & "Ed." These two quiet gentlemen are as alike as two peas in a pod, or more so, if possible, as far as likes and dislikes are concerned.

"Edwin" surprised us last year by showing up as a candidate for the football squad. He surprised us even more when we watched him during "scrimmage." Despite the fact that Edwin was heavily outweighed by almost every one else in the squad, he could always be counted upon to get some sort of a hold on the opposing ball carrier.

Although "Ed" was not among the "master-minds" in regard to scholastic attainments, he always managed to remain well above the average and we can truthfully say that his determination and pluck will carry him to success in later life.

Good-bye and good luck, "Ed."

Favorite Expression: "Gleich haue ich dir eine herunter." Favorite Occupation: Taking apart flivvers.

And this is "Herbie," one of those brilliant students who never have to study, but always get good marks. (That he never studies is of course an exaggeration for he has been known to take his books home "by mistake.")

In spite of his aversion to studying, "Oswald" is the originator of the "Hoffman Theorem" in Solid Geometry and is the mainstay of the Physics class.

Another point in "Herbie's" favor is his punctuality. Somehow, he always manages to come to class one minute after the tardy bell has rung.

As far as members of the weaker sex are concerned—they are out of luck in "Herbie's" case—at least, so one infers from the advice he gives his friends concerning them.

It is "Herbie's" intention to enter W. P. I. in the fall, and there is no doubt that he will be successful there, for his entrance examination marks have shown his ability and will probably win him a scholarship.

It is with deep regret and the best wishes that we say "Good bye" to "Herbie," a true pal.

"Jimmy" is considered by the rest of the student body one of the quietest fellows who ever graced the doors of C. H. S. Besides being a very friendly chap, "Jim" stands A No. 1 in his studies.

Many's the time when things were not going well with some of the boys. "Jimmy" was sought out and after a talk with him they were usually cheered up.

We don't believe that "Jim" is very enthusiastic where the fair sex is concerned, but, that doesn't mean that he hasn't friends among them for he certainly has.

"Jimmy" is a great French scholar and we are sure that Miss Kerrigan will miss him next year. Some members of the class were curious as to where "Jim" spent his evenings. Their curiosity grew to such bounds that they investigated and found him indulging in the game known as "Cowboys and Indians" with some young friends of his.

Perhaps "Jim" will some day own a great ranch out west, and he will be able to pursue his hobby to his heart's content.

Favorite Expression: "I don't like you." Favorite Occupation: Yawning and Giggling.

Here we have Mabel and with her that infectious giggle. Consequently, the nickname of "Gigolo" has been conferred upon her.

Horror of horrors! Mabel was one of those unfortunates who had a brilliant sister to live up to. She was a lap ahead of her when it came to social honors, but as for scholastic honors—well they just didn't bother Mabel. She did make off with several of those white slips of paper given out at Assembly and known as testimonials but her family received such a shock every time it happened that she seriously considered giving up even trying for them.

Mabel was one of a triumvirate at school. If you saw Mabel around you could have staked your all, that either Helen or Helene was there or ready to barge onto the scene any moment.

Mabel hasn't decided whether she will become a nurse or enter the business world. At any rate, the Class of '31 has your name in the list of those it wishes luck, "Mabs."

We find Karl one of the finest classroom debaters in our class. It seems that Karl finds much enjoyment in arguing with his teachers, who in turn find him very hard to convince. His classmates also enjoy these arguments because he mixes a great deal of humor into them.

Karl is an artist of no small ability and hopes to follow the vocation of Commercial Art. His cartoons are thoroughly enjoyed by those who study near him in the hall.

We find him a jack-of-all-trades at home and an ardent and quite successful hunter and fisherman.

He has been girl-shy through his High School years but we find him getting over it now. He is found always brimming over with good humor, which makes him all the more liked by his classmates.

Alexander the Great, Solomon the Wise, Benjamin Franklin; all these have nothing on Joseph Francis Keating, Jr. "Joe" The Mighty, is mighty both in mind and body. Like Solomon, Joseph cannot be phased by any question. He is as wise and intellectual as an owl (only his mind is active during the day as well as during the night). Now, looking over Joseph's work, we find that he ranks scholastically with the best of the class—and he, the youngest member of the class! One thing that we must make an important note of is the fact that "Joe's" favorite subject is Chemistry (very explosive, combustible and odorous when "Joe" is around).

During his junior and senior years, Joseph has been treasurer of the class and has filled his position with the greatest efficiency.

Here, we have "Bill" Kerrigan, "The Little Giant" of our class. "Bill" is probably the smallest boy in stature in the class but one of the biggest in mentality. He never exerted himself for any of his studies but he has the enviable record of never having received a flunk. That's some record!

"Kerry" has been president of the class for three years which is a real testimonial of his popularity. His cheerfulness and a smile for everyone he meets has made him one of the best liked boys in the class.

Sometimes she succeeds and sometimes she doesn't. Of course you know what that means. "Afternoon Tea" at 2.30.

He did manage to get a few, which is much better than some of us have done in our term in this great institution of knowledge.

Lloyd's hobby is fooling around radios, and drawing. He surpassed most of us in Mr. Houston's drawing classes and when we wanted any information on the subject of radios to whom did we go for this advice? Why to Lloyd, of course, and we never found him unwilling to help us.

Favorite Expression: "O ye gods!" Favorite Occupation: Jumping.

"Margot" spends a great deal of time in burning the midnight oil, but not as much in studying as in trying to make those blond locks of hers curl. But in class she invariably has her lessons well prepared and it is said she pays close attention, particularly in U. S. and algebra.

We all wonder why "Margot" is so active and peppy in school, but we suppose that it is because she is so athletic. She is an active participant in our field day athletics and has quite an assortment of medals to vouch for her prowess.

"Margot" with "Eve" and "Anne" comprise a trio which might be called the Three Musketeers, for they are usually seen together. Then, too, she does her share in upholding the traditional quietness of those who sit in the back of the hall. The noise, back there, seems to be everlasting.

Favorite Expression: "Damfino." Favorite Occupation: Studying French.

Here comes the "Sheik," although not on a fiery steed—but on a bicycle. "Vernie" is often seen rushing at breakneck speed through our crowded streets on this vehicle—usually with a few school (?) books and a big radiant smile.

If you ever attended an English class with "Lovie" you'd know he's no mean scholar. Teachers who can testify to this have ample proof—a good collection of marks in all subjects—and French!! Why bring that up?

"Vern" is never seen without a smile or a grin and why not? Maybe he's happy.

As an infielder on our baseball team for the past two years, "Vernie" has distinguished himself by his snappy fielding and timely hitting.

C. H. S. fondly looks upon "Vernie" as one of its products in both fields of sport and scholarly distinction—Mr. Cobb's famous collection of "brain and brawn."

"Laverdure" may rest assured that the best luck and wishes will follow him throughout future years.

Favorite Expression: "Oh! I see now." Favorite Occupation: Taking things easy.

Let us now announce "Steph," the bashful maiden of our class. "Slow but sure" is her motto but her sister—alias her pal makes her hurry.

"Terry" can often be seen whizzing by in a Ford roadster; that's one thing in which she's not slow.

"Steph" has been quite popular mainly because of her quietness and sweetness of manner which endears her to everyone who comes in contact with her.

But don't be deceived—for "Terry's" quietness doesn't mean she isn't interested in school affairs. Oh no! She may be seen attending every History Circle and French Club meeting and she is one of the reasons for the success of both—and we are more than sure that she herself will be a success.

Favorite Expression: "You goof." Favorite Occupation: Playing a sax.

Scholastically, an apt student; socially, a lion; artistically, a musician. Thus briefly do we catalogue those characteristics of Irving Madoff which are evident after an hour's acquaintance with him. Those deeper traits—a keen intellect, fast friendship, rollicking humor, are cherished by us who know him well. If you consider these qualities, you will realize they constitute quite an admirable prediction for any man. We realize its proportions and make it in good faith.

The attributes already mentioned are such as might be best known by members of our own class but who is there who doesn't know the fighting "Izzy" of the gridiron?

Irving intends to enter the portals of Harvard University in the fall and we are sure he will be a howling success—especially if he takes his sax along.

We all realize that Irving richly merits the peak which he has gained in the esteem of those who knew him best, and we of '31 all join in wishing him success in his chosen profession.

"Tony"

Technical Course

Favorite Expression: "Let's make some fireworks." Favorite Occupation: Burning up the highway on his bike.

"Tony" is one of the quieter students of our school, and very popular among the studious element. He never fails to aid his fellow-students, either in or out of school.

In school, "Tony" is greatly attracted by scientific subjects. Chemistry is probably his favorite, for it gives him a chance to pursue original researches in the field of explosives. You may be sure that whenever you meet "Tony," he has a pocketful of formulae for the manufacture of explosives, fireworks, or other things of like nature. If you are at all interested in Chemistry, "Tony" will at once attempt to tempt you to attempt to produce some of his concoctions.

Out of school, we see a very little of "Tony." Sometimes we see him streaking around a corner in a late model Chevy (late in the sense of dead and buried). If "Tony" is in a hurry, however, we see him clamped to the seat of his trusty old bike.

Although we are sorry to have "Tony" leave us, we are glad that he intends to further his education at a technical school, and in wishing him the best of success, we are certain that among his new classmates, he will be as popular as he was at C. H. S.

MARY MARION MASSALSKI

Commercial Course

Favorite Expression: "Oh gee, I dunno." Favorite Occupation: Hiking.

And here is Mary, who hails from a far distant section of the town. Few of us realize just how far Mary walks to school each day. Is it a wonder, therefore, that she endeavors very diligently to remain home from the afternoon socials, invitations to which our faculty seem to have no conscience in giving out.

If quietness is a virtue, Mary has it in excess. For she is seldom heard and as for trouble—well, Mary never has to worry along that line. Maybe it's that fear of a long hike back in the afternoon. If so, we'll say that it's a sufficient reason.

Scholastically, Mary does not seem to get into any real difficulties. She seems to devote enough time to her studies so that the teachers are satisfied, and after all, that's more than some of us succeed in doing.

Mary must have enjoyed many a laugh at the expense of the teachers because of her smart boyish bob and apparent masculine attire—as viewed from the desk. We have on more than one occasion seen her smile her way out of a case of mistaken identity.

Mary has been quite reticent in letting out any information as to her future plans. However, regardless of what they are, Mary, the Class sincerely wishes you success.

"Chick"

College Course

Varsity Football 1-2-3-4; Interclass Track 1-2; Sophomore French Club.

Favorite Expression: "When do we eat?" Favorite Occupation: Grinning.

"Chick" is one of the big, strong, silent men of our class. Who has ever heard him causing a disturbance? The time used by the rest of us in talking is quite profitably employed by "Chick" in thinking. Yet no one could accuse him of being a dreamer—far from it. In fact, he has often assisted opposing football players on the road to dreamland.

It is while playing football that "Chick" undergoes a complete change. From the slow moving, quiet lad, he turns into a raging cyclone and woe to the poor mortal who dares to cross his path!

In his studies, "Chick" always has maintained a comfortable margin of safety but we wonder what would happen if he applied himself to his books with the same vim and vigor he shows in athletics.

"Chick" is undecided as to his ultimate destination but wherever he goes, we are sure that his good natured personality will win him a place in the hearts of his classmates as it has done in C. H. S.

We regretfully say "farewell" to a true pal and classmate, "Chick."

Favorite Expression: "Yes, it is!" Favorite Occupation: Looking for Ames.

Let us now introduce you to the one and original "Bud" McGrail." "Bud" hails from the rugged peaks of "Burditt Hill," a district locally known, nationally known, and internationally known (pardon the hyperbole).

"Bud" can be seen at most of our social functions and always seems to be on the best of terms with the opposite sex. During his spare moments, "Bud" can be seen floating around in the "Burditt Hill Ark" looking for "Ames."

"Bud" never seemed to worry a great deal about his studies and yet he always seemed to get along well. Of course, he could always be seen, ploughing up and down the "Hill" with an armful of books coming and going from school but as to how many hours or minutes he pondered over them each night—well, you'd better ask "Bud."

"Bud" is undecided as to where he is going to further his education but wherever he chooses to go, the best wishes for success from the Class of 1931 go with him. Good-bye, "Buddy" boy, and good luck.

But then, he always causes a flutter when he walks down the corridors or along the street for he's "the glass of fashion and the mould of form." "Mac" surely is socially gifted, and he certainly knows how to dress.

"Joe" played baseball on the varsity and was a mighty good player at 1st base. His football career, however, was interrupted by a broken ankle and wrist.

"Joe's" destination is St. Anselm's, and as he is a good consistent student, we are sure that he will make a success there. We all know his personality will win there, and everywhere.

Favorite Expression: "Don't be silly." Favorite Occupation: Eating and Giggling.

Is it a gurgling brook? No, it's only "Mac" with her contagious giggles. "Mac" is always just bubbling over with giggles, so anxious to pop out at the slightest provocation whether it be at a funny remark or a poke in the ribs.

Despite her favorite occupation (giggling) don't get the idea that "Mac" is never serious, because she is, especially at Christmas when she graces the toy counter at Woolworth's Emporium trying to figure out how to wrap up story books, jumping jacks, etc.

Even the report cards can't make Rita lose her happy smile, but then, why should they?

"Ree" excels in the art of dancing and her smile may be seen at all the High School socials. Rita also has been strangely attracted to athletics not so much in taking part as in observing them (or the participants).

When Rita enters St. Vincent's Hospital in September, all the happiness, luck, and success that the Class of '31 could wish goes with her.

Here is a very quiet and sedate girl, none other than Gertrude. By quiet, we do not mean that "Gert" never spoke to anyone, for I guess all knew and liked her.

"Gert" has been with us the four years through, but for two months, because of an accident, she was missed a great deal by her classmates. We all feared that "Gert" might not get by because she had missed school for so long a time. But why should we fear, we should have known that she was not the type to stay behind.

She certainly did some studying since she went back to school and I don't mean maybe. But she has now attained her reward and she is with the rest of us—out and looking for something new and different.

"Gertie" intends to become a nurse, and we all know that she will make a good one. She will receive her training at Massachusetts General Hospital. Good Luck will follow her, we know. Success from '31, "Gert."

Elizabeth is very fond of sports, especially football, as may be noticed by her regular attendance at all High School games. Besides her winning smile, her cheerfulness and other incidentals belonging to a pleasing personality. Elizabeth is not far behind in her studies. In our sophomore year a new member joined our ranks, Leona, as she is best known, came to join us from the large town of Bolton. With her ready smile it did not take her long to make friends with everyone.

"Nonie" is always ready to help anyone in time of trouble. Where ever she is you are always in for a good time, for without her, there seems to be something missing.

"Ona" is always among the list of testimonial pupils. Perhaps she owes her clearness of thought to her long walk to school in the early morning.

After school hours, we very often see Leona in Clinton, we can't imagine what the reason is (?). Can you? She is very fond of dancing and has never missed any of the High School dances.

"Nonie" intends to enter some hospital in the near future to prepare for the nursing profession. We all know that the patients will get well rapidly when she is working around them in her lovable way. The Class of '31 wishes you the best of luck, Leona.

Mary is another example of the truth of that statement, "Looks are often deceiving." If Mary looks quiet and wistful to you, forget it! For Mary is anything else but. Her close friends, which are not few in number, can testify to Mary's fun-loving nature. Besides, there very seldom was a good time which Mary did not attend.

As a student, Mary kept on the right side of the line and knows what testimonials, and those coveted eighty-fives, look like.

"Patience is a virtue" is another statement which can be applied to Mary. Few of us have ever seen her angry or flustered. This is one of the qualities which make Mary a valuable as well as a good friend to have.

Mary's plans for the future are rather vague, at least she's keeping them a secret from us. However, she does admit that she expects to be either a nurse or a stenographer. We are willing also to make a guess that perhaps she'll go domestic; who knows? "Time alone will tell" are her words and we hope that time will also bring her the best of luck.

Here we are! One of the most popular redheads in High School. You don't know her? What? Why, everybody knows Helen—and how! Helen's voice and laugh are well-known for everybody Helen meets and everywhere she goes . . . so does joy and pep. And she doesn't have to study, because Helen just naturally has a way with the teachers and students.

Helen's willing and joyous spirit has helped immensely in making her a success with both sexes, and her presence in the Stenography class is certainly appreciated when there is any transcribing to be done, for Helen has a wonderful memory and is always on the spot.

And did you ever see a tea dance or a dance in Forester's complete without Helen? No, neither did we.

Here she is, our Vice-President! Who of us doesn't know Marguerite? Just as I thought—no one.

"Peg" has helped to lead our class through two of our busiest and most successful years. Wasn't our Prom the best ever?

"Honey's" sunny nature is a blessing to all of us who are intimate with her because when we are in the clutches of the blues doesn't a talk with her make you realize that there is sunshine after all?

"Peg" played guard on the basketball team and she sure is light footed. We'd know that even if we had never seen her on the basketball floor, because she is the most popular girl on the dance floor.

Marguerite has never had to worry about marks because somehow she manages to pull through with flying colors (blue colors, at that, and not red ones).

In fact, if she succeeds in carrying out one-tenth of her novel ideas the world won't need righting, it will just right itself. Then what will the poor gangsters and racketeers do for a living?

Is she versatile? No—not much—she's just an actress, playwright, orator, artist, scholar, writer, dancer, all-around sport, bookkeeper and stenographer, and a conversationalist. In addition she's a real pal and the world of meaning covered by "pal" is well-known. All this and more is Helene,—and I don't mean Sylvia.

"Billy" turned life-saver in her Senior year. She saved the reputation of '31's dramatic ability, from going under. She wrote a vehicle that carried the class to victory in their last offering at the doors of drama. We'll remember "High Hat."

To say that John is musically inclined would be like saying that Paderewski was a man who had something to do with a piano. A few years hence, we expect "Grand Opera" stuff from John though "Novelty Orchestras" demand his attention just at present.

All his business ability is not confined to bookkeeping and typewriting. While in the employ of J. J. Newberry, he was a valuable asset. If the business world claims him the "bulls" and "bears" on Wall Street will have to watch out. Although "Chuck" was not always a member of the select circle of the testimonial assemblies, he did manage to get one now and then to show the fruits of his labor. Just glance at all those activities—there hasn't been much going on, that Mary has not had a hand in. As a basketball player—when we had basketball—she prevented many a score by the opponents and covered herself with glory—and we may say—her patient opponent, with dust.

During our Junior year, Mary decided that '31 needed her services in the annual Field Day. As a track and field athlete she helped to swell the total points of our class—again covering herself with glory—but also—covering HERSELF with dust. We look to Mary for several points in the coming Field Day.

Favorite Expression: "That test was a snap." Favorite Occupation: Talking geometry.

And now we come to Myles. Although we were not favored with his presence throughout our trips through the vast halls of knowledge of dear old Clinton High, Myles has earned for himself the affection of all who have come into contact with him, by his quiet unassuming ways.

Although Myles did not wear out the proverbial shoe leather going up to greet Mr. Cobb when the testimonials were awarded, once in a while, he did what some of us, sad to relate, did not succeed in, namely, get one of those coveted 85's. Myles was never favored by receiving those little cards issued monthly.

We do not know what his relations are in regard to the other sex, so we can stop conjecturing right here.

Myles has something else to do besides making the grade. Every afternoon you can see him smiling over the counter of a certain grocery store on the top of the hill and what Myles doesn't know about groceries could be written on the back of a postage stamp.

We all know that such a genius as Myles will further his education—perhaps, he will matriculate at Holy Cross where we are sure he will be a credit to the Class of '31. Best wishes for success, Myles, from classmates of '31.

PETER JOSEPH O'TOOLE

"Pete" "Joe"

College Course

Debating Society 1-2; Sophomore French Club; Junior Prom Committee; History Circle; Le Cercle Francais; Tau Sigma; Junior Marshal.

Favorite Expression: "Me voici." Favorite Occupation: Writing.

Stop! Look! Listen! Here is Peter O'Toole, the boy wonder of our class.

"Pete" stands out as the English star of our class. His work in English during the past four years has been outstanding. He is especially adapted to short story writing (as the French Club may well testify). His essay on Lincoln was chosen winner because of his originality and his vocabulary—now the mystery of the missing hall dictionary is explained.

Next, we find "Pete" in the role of a debater. When he shows his magneloquence (one of his own words) he makes us wonder where we are, who we are, what we are, why we are and why not! In short, "Pete" is, as a debater, unsurpassed. Peter places school first. Was there a day when he didn't know his lessons almost word for word (except for the day he told us the noun was feminine because it was a "she")? He always favors us with his presence whether it be at French Club with his "me voici" or at one of our dramatics in the Town Hall.

Our Peter is going to Harvard to study law and our only hope is that he never fights a case against us. Yes, "Pete" the whole class is behind you, knowing that success will be yours.

Favorite Expression: "Can I help you?" Favorite Occupation: Improving Broekelman's Service.

And now we come to "Tommy," the shining light of our class. "Tommy" is known and well liked by everybody for his friendliness and ready wit.

We may say with truth that we have never seen "Tom" without his sunny smile and good humor.

"Tommy" showed his leadership when he took over the reins of the History Circle, and he was largely responsible for its success.

Then he decided to go out for dramatics, and he showed his ability as an actor in the Senior Show.

"Tom" is also one of our working boys, and may be seen any Thursday or Saturday night busily plying his trade behind the counter of one of our leading stores.

Oh, yes, "Tom" has a car, (?), a long, rakish modelled Dodge, which our hero may be seen trying to coax up Acre hill any afternoon. Strange as it may seem, "Tommy" comes from the Acre, and we are sure that the boys up there are fond of him.

His winning personality has endeared him to all of his classmates, and we sincerely wish him luck for the future.

"Al" "Ally"

College Course

Hiking Club 1; Minstrel Show 1; Musical Comedy 2-3-4; Sophomore French Club; Eta Nu Gamma 3; Junior Prom Reception Committee; History Circle.

Favorite Expression: "Why so blue?" Favorite Occupation: Going to gym.

Alli's picture fails to reveal her main attraction, the color of her hair. Her auburn locks have been the envy of many a feminine classmate, ever since that particular color has become so popular with the boys.

Good marks are something Alli never had to pray for, seeing that she absorbs knowledge naturally. Testimonials became quite commonplace to her, after receiving such a large number.

We well know the qualities which make Alli such a good pal. She can be depended upon to keep her promises and appointments to the letter. Frankness is also characteristic of Alli—for the only opinion that Alli ever gives is her honest opinion.

Pleasure is not scorned by Alli—far from it. Her membership in the various clubs, and her attendance at dances and socials, go a little way in proving this.

Her destination is Salem Normal School, where she intends to become a commercial teacher. With her ambition, ability, and common-sense, the Class of '31 feels confident that she will meet with success.

Favorite Expression: "What am I supposed to do?" Favorite Occupation: Whispering.

When you gaze upon "Gus's" picture you get the impression that she is one of the dignified members of our class. But oh! how deceptive appearances can be, for hasn't she selected the rear of the Hall for her permanent position during her senior year?

"Oh Marion, got an extra pencil?" That's what greets "Gus" every morning when she comes to school. Did you ever see her without one? She is known as the generous girl with plenty of pencils and nickels. At recess, "Giggles" is the center of popularity in the "grab-your-doughnut circle."

Her recitations usually savor of study, but occasionally, she fails to burn the midnight oil. She doesn't seem to bother with the masculine element of C. H. S., although, our suspicions are aroused at times and we wonder.

"Polly" never failed to attend any of our social affairs. She always managed to have her dance card filled at all our C. H. S. shows. Did you ever go to a basketball game to find Marion among the missing? I should say not.

"Polly's" great ambition is to have her name cards read, "Miss Marion Paul, R. N." She has planned to enter the hospital later, and we are sure she will make a splendid nurse, and succeed in making her patients better, happier, and brighter by her presence.

Favorite Expression: "Shut up." Favorite Occupation: Giggling.

At last we come to "Giggles," one of our carefree classmates. Whenever anyone sees Mary she has a smile by way of greeting.

Mary doesn't believe in studying too hard (who does?) but she certainly enjoyed her High School days and considers them time well spent.

Mary is one of those "few." who always enter their home room after the first bell and before the tardy bell.

Of course we have already told you that Mary is fond of giggling, and it certainly comes in handy to relieve the monotony of some classes.

Mary hasn't decided where she is going after she graduates, but I am sure that wherever she goes there will be sunshine and merriment. She has the best of wishes of the Class of '31.

HELENA MARIE RICHARDS

Normal Course

History Circle; Junior Prom Committee; Eta Nu Gamma 3.

Favorite Expression: "I don't know." Favorite Occupation: Ticklin' the ivories.

Helena, although one of the smallest girls in the class, is one of the most important members. She never misses a class meeting, nor fails to stand up for her own convictions. She never needed a truck for her testies, she managed to carry them herself. She is one of those girls who believe in doing her share in the world, and what is more, doing it conscientiously to the end.

Helena's C. H. S. career has been admirable. She has been excellent in deportment and attended school regularly. She is always ready for a good laugh—if there is something to laugh at. For Helena is very sensible and possesses much more common sense than is generally allotted to the average student.

The first three years, Helena took the Normal Course, but someone persuaded her to change to the Business Course; we wonder who?

We know that Helena's kind and lovable disposition will win her friends everywhere and her practical nature will gain success for her in business. Luck follows you, Helena.

College Course

Chairman of Reception Committee of Junior Prom; Senior Show; Vice-President of Le Cercle Francais; Eta Nu Gamma 3; History Circle; Interclass Dramatics 4; Hiking Club 1; Class Book Staff.

Favorite Expression: "What did you say?" Favorite Occupation: Being non-chalant.

Just gaze upon the above mentioned activities of this young lady and then you'll appreciate her worth to a greater degree. There have been very few things going on that Marian has not had a hand in, and she has usually contributed a great deal to their success.

Can this lady talk?—and how! anytime, anywhere, and on any subject, but the trouble is she usually argues with those of the so-called sterner sex. Yet in spite of all this we will say that Marian shows no particular leaning toward any particular person, but is content to take 'em as they come.

Marian has exhibited her talent as an actress on several occasions and has invariably been a delight to her audience in the parts she portrays. And it certainly was a pleasure to have her in the casts. She has earned, without any question, the title of the "Life of the Party." That title, naturally, reflects Marian's attractive personality and makes us other girls rather envious.

Marian travels to New London next year to pursue higher education. We hope and trust that she will be just as popular there as she has been here—Good Luck—Marian.

LOUIS JOSEPH RUBERTI

"Louie" "Lugee"

College Course

Le Cercle Francais; Junior Prom Committee; Tau Sigma.

Favorite Expression: "Get going." Favorite Occupation: Polishing up on his French.

And now we come to Louis, who is a well known member of our class. He is one of the outstanding baseball players of the class and through his stay of four years in our great "alma mater" he has taken an active part in everything that was for the benefit of '31.

Any recess time you can see "Lugee" behind the counter over in "Ruberti's", selling candy and sodas to the hungry students of dear old Clinton High.

"Luck" is not one of those quiet boys but is rather outspoken. In any of the classes where he happens to occupy a seat there are very few dull moments, because of his fast wit which makes him a welcome member of any group. Although he is not very studious, he did manage to have Mr. Cobb present him with a few of those pieces of paper, highly decorated, which are known as testimonials. We feel sure that "Luck" shall succeed in life and that '31 shall be very glad to have had him as a member of its fold. Good luck, Louis.

Favorite Expression: "Oh, stop." Favorite Occupation: Prompting Irene.

Just think of five feet, one and one-eighth inches of "pep" and you think of Loretta Russell. Loretta may be small but don't forget the old saying, "Good things ———" And certainly Loretta is good—at some things. History for instance; and Musical Comedies; and playing the part of kids in shows. Oh, there are many things at which Loretta excels.

When Loretta came to High School, she was growing. She's been growing ever since, and if not in height—in popularity. For Loretta is one of the popular members of our class, and she's popular with all. Loretta's got the cutest laugh; that's why she's popular. A smile will go a long way but a laugh will go further.

Did you ever hear Loretta sing? Her voice is certainly bigger than herself, but just as sweet. And that's mighty sweet. And she just simply steals whatever show she's in. She can't help it.

Loretta's engaging personality will get her by with flying colors and she may go away assured that the best of 1931's wishes go with her.

Favorite Expression: "I'm prepared." Favorite Occupation: Trying to keep his hair combed.

And now we come to Daniel Salmon, whose love of combat—verbal, physical, mental, or what have you,—is extraordinary. We see him contending verbally with Mr. McGrail concerning some deep political problem; physically, we have seen him in violent action on the football field; and lastly, he may once in awhile be seen while engaged in a heroic mental struggle with his text books.

To one who does not know "Danny" it may seem that he is a bit gruff, but take our word for it, he really possesses a heart of gold i. e., he is a good scout with a rough exterior.

"Danny" intends to continue his education at a Normal School and we can already picture him as a teacher of U. S. History.

Favorite Expression: "Horses." Favorite Occupation: Going to the movies.

Rita is another of that gang in the back of the hall. She has always been one of the most popular girls in the class, as shown by her abundance of friends of both sexes.

We always can tell when "Andy" attends one of our socials, for she spends the next day in far away dreamland. "Raspberries" has always had a quiet disposition in school and can be heard only when a certain group get together. It takes a lot to start her but when she starts she can't be stopped. She is never overburdened with lessons but nevertheless manages to get off without many "afternoon tea tickets."

A business career seems to be "Andy's" goal and business panics will be a thing of the past when she holds the reins in the commercial world. She intends to go to Fairchild's and be "Somebody's Stenog." We wonder who it will be? All the luck that '31 could wish goes with you, Rita.

Favorite Expression: "Oh nifty." Favorite Occupation: Organizing Candy Squads.

Ever since that day when she entered C. H. S. we have seen "Scotty" in nearly every show staged for the A. A. benefit. Here, she showed the rest of us that she had a voice, and what's more she could use it to great advantage, for she has also been featured in every musical comedy since her entrance.

During our senior year, Stella obtained, in some marvelous manner, a secretary complex, for she was honored by both the History Circle and by the Class of 1931 with the office of secretary. Sufficient to say that Stella has filled the duties of her office most efficiently in both instances.

In studies, Stella has done very well. She is very conscientious and this trait doesn't seem to be very distasteful to the teachers in general. In particular, however, we're afraid that "Scotty" has wondered much, and is still wondering, about the intricacies of Algebra and its teacher.

"Stel" is bound for Framingham Normal! Why she doesn't develop her vocal gifts is her own secret. But probably one of these days in the near future we'll see her making up diet lists or the like in some large hospital. The best of luck goes with her to Framingham.

Favorite Expression: "Oh, my gosh!" Favorite Occupation: Sketching.

Here we have Madelyn, one of the type "gentlemen prefer," and who is there among us who is not aware of her sunny and likeable disposition. Fortunate indeed are those of us who are on her friendship list, for as a true friend in need she cannot be surpassed.

"Blondie" is one of those girls whom the teachers like to see in their classes. She is never annoying, though we must admit that she enjoys a good joke as well as any of us, and quite often we hear a rather soprano giggle coming from her direction. (Biology).

"Blondie" is seen frequently at High School shows and always seems to be enjoying herself to the last degree.

Music and manual arts are her hobbies, and we can usually hear her talking about some new book-ends or drawing which she is finishing. "Maddy" intends to follow up her hobby and attend art school and we are certain of her success. In all her future efforts she has the best wishes of her classmates of '31. Good Luck, "Maddy."

Favorite Expression: "What? A test??" Favorite Occupation: Making odors in chemistry.

When you look at Rita's picture, you are liable to get the impression that she is one of our quiet, sober girls,—but in reality she is full of fun and far from quiet. Mr. Gordon could vouch for that, for she sits up in the back of the hall and is one of the group who make him repeat so severely, "We'll have the talking stopped."

We can't say that "Gita" overburdens herself with study, but she manages to get by without any afternoon sessions.

Rita attends all the shows given by the High School and always has a good time. Reason—her fondness for dancing. Outside of these affairs, only a few of us know how Rita spends her spare time, and although she razzes Bolton a great deal, we often see her traveling in that direction.

We well remember the hilarious times we spent down on the stairs by the study hall gate, when "the inseparables" discussed what had happened the night before.

We don't know exactly what "Gita" intends to do after graduation although she has a vague idea of becoming a dietician. But whatever her future profession may be, we know she will be a success. Good luck from '31.

She has always kept our class in good humor, for no one ever saw Nora without a cheerful smile on her face. Although she always seems to be enjoying life, she never neglects her studies and is ever willing to help the poor unfortunate ones when they are in trouble.

"Nonie" doesn't believe in studying too much but she always succeeds in passing. She always has a good time and has made scores of friends by her sunny disposition.

Nora seems to be very fond of Stenography and has shown her ability both in dictation and in transcribing. Nora's ambition is to be "somebody's stenog," and we feel sure that she is bound to succeed and has the best wishes for success and happiness from '31.

Favorite Expression: "Scrunch." Favorite Occupation: Doing home-work ahead of time.

One of the more youthful (also "useful") members of our illustrious class is "Shuttie." Young in years perhaps, but when he tackles that chemistry, Latin, or what have you, he makes the rest of us feel like children just out of the kindergarten. In Math, particularly, "Shuttie" always led the class and made the others hop, skip, and jump to keep him in sight.

Athletics, also, held attractions for our "Shuttie" and during the football season he was daily seen on the sward, nimbly scampering after the elusive "oblate spheroid." By the way, he is pretty good at this "scampering" business and since he won the "440" for us last year and placed in several other events, we are counting heavily on him when we again enter the lists on Field Day.

From his outward appearance Walter is a modest and a very quiet chap, and is a person who never interferes with anybody else's business.

Although he isn't one of the select circle at the testimonial assemblies, Walter manages in some way or another to obtain one now and then just to show the other pupils that he has as much ability as they.

"Waller" is a very loyal supporter of dear old C. H. S., and he has not yet missed a football or a baseball game. He is especially fond of bookkeeping, in fact anything that pertains to business. Hildred didn't join us until our Junior year, but what a lucky break for us that she did arrive. It didn't take the owner of that charming giggle long to become one of us.

None of the dances are complete without Hildred, and this by the way isn't her only accomplishment. Doesn't she go down the aisle every quarter for her share of the testimonials?

Hildred was unrivaled for her prowess on the basketball floor. Wasn't she our star center?

The only thing that there is some question about is why she greets us every morning with the familiar, "Are there any substitutes?"

"Hillie" is headed for the hospital—oh, don't get us wrong—as a prospective nurse. We know that her winning smile and personality will find its way into the hearts of her patients and will take her a long way on the road of success.

Favorite Expression: "Are we late?" Favorite Occupation: Getting "trial balances."

We now gaze upon one of Clinton High's quietest girls. She is always pondering over her books and comes to the aid of all who need her. Many may be seen around her desk before the tardy bell, getting a side light on either Book-keeping or Stenography. We all know what a good student she is in both.

All know Louise by the trips she makes every quarter, (and especially mid-year) to greet Mr. Cobb and receive her testimonials. And what applause she does get! And I don't mean maybe.

Many know her as the girl who served them with a pleasant manner, in the J. J. Newberry store during the Christmas rush.

"Louie" has not made a definite plan as to where she is going but she believes that Bay Path Institution of Springfield will be her destination. For as we all know her efficiency in Stenography, we can imagine what a fine teacher she will turn out to be. We now turn the spotlight of '31 on "Shrewdy," the ace of our gridiron, the flash on our basketball floor, the best that we have on our diamond—What High School could ask for more?

Walter is our idea of an all around good-fellow. He is a sterling athlete but at the same time he never feels out of place on the smooth floor of that well-known ball-room known as "Forester's Hall." We notice that lately he has taken a sudden liking to Framingham but sh!—we might be "Driving Him Crazy."

"Al" always takes her time and is often surprised to find upon arriving at school, that the tardy bell has been inconsiderate enough to have rung before she manages to reach the hall. But she generally comes out on top, due to the fact that she is adept in making excuses.

Speaking of social events we find it opportune to remark that "Al" was always very much in evidence at all of them, surrounded by her numerous admirers.

Throughout her High School career, Alyce has made a success of everything she has undertaken. "Never trouble trouble until trouble troubles you" is the motto of her carefree spirit. She is a firm believer in looking at the bright side of life; a true optimist in every sense of the word. "Al" rightfully belongs to the class of good sports.

Every Friday, one may see Edmund driving this reminder of the "days when men were men." While we're on the subject, we may mention the fact that Edmund is not only capable of driving this trusty steed but that he knows his groceries.

To look at Edmund, one would deem him a studious personality but hasn't Shakespeare said: "There's no art to read the mind's construction in the face?" Edmund could not be accused of burning the "midnight oil." Nevertheless, he managed to attain good grades—even to the extent of going up to greet Mr. Cobb when the testimonia's were awarded.

Edmund is regarded as a regular fellow by his classmates and keeps them in gales of laughter by his witty remarks both subjective and objective.

Here comes Edith with vim, vigor, and vitality. Always in a hurry and going no place in particular except at one o'clock. She usually wears something red to match her rosy cheeks which look like apples and we know she is the apple of some one's eye.

She's quite a popular girl, even with the opposite sex for the twinkle in her eyes certainly is alluring.

Ask her where she's going Friday nights and the answer is usually "to a dance!" It seems funny she always goes out of town. Tsk, tsk, we wonder why?

Unfortunately Edith's last name begins with W. That is why she doesn't sit up in the hall though she would like to and has tried but all her efforts have been in vain.

"Teddy's" a good scout and always willing to lend a helping hand. Whether she is in Miss Comiskey's home room or in the hall, at recess, we find her talking to her friends and helping them out when she can.

"Sam" is another of those quiet and studious boys who are seen but not generally heard. "Sam's" chief object in school seems to be studying for that is his chief occupation. After all, perhaps "Sam" has decided that it is the best policy to remain silent, after seeing some of the "scraps" the rest of us get into.

Like all quiet fellows "Sam" has his moments; only it takes time for him to get started. We can't imagine "Sam" getting into an argument or discussion in class (bright boy if some of our view points were given).

"Sam" wants to become a carpenter or cabinet maker and we find him making himself useful about his home in this capacity.

We predict great things for you Walter, for we are putting you down in our memories as a hard worker.

"Sam" has not decided what he will undertake upon his graduation but we are sure of his success and are wishing him the best of luck. Go to it, "Sam."

Favorite Expression: "Oh, stop." Favorite Occupation: Walking with someone???

And now we turn the spotlight on a little "Miss of '31." "Dot" is certainly a good example of that much quoted phrase—"Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone."

"Dot" has never yet been known to let such trivial things as studies and teachers interfere with her active sense of humor. "Dot's" home-room as we all know is in Room 10. We often wondered why "Dot" never really cared about changing to the Hall but if we could see the occupants (?) of this room, we might soon understand the reason.

Oh, by the way, we mustn't forget the football games. "Dot" was always on the side lines appearing to root for, what seemed to be the team. But, we have our doubts. To see "Dot" at our socials (that's if you could see her) through the crowd of males surrounding her, she would appear to be a vamp. But no! It is just that winning smile of hers.

"Dot" is p'anning to become a nurse; we see where that old favorite, "I don't want to get well," will soon be the most popular song out. Good-bye, "Dot," the Class of '31 wishes you best of luck.

Fortunate indeed are those of us upon whose friendship list Charlie's name appears, for as a true friend he cannot be surpassed. His ready smile and amicable personality have gained him the friendship of our class and faculty. In addition to completing his High School course in less than the four years most of us require, he holds a very high scholastic standing—always dealing with the high eighties and nineties.

Charlie spends part of his spare time painting. Those of us who have seen Charlie's artistic productions readily recognize his ability in that line.

His artistic talents are also shown in the line of music. When we go by "the house on the hill" we hear strains of music from various composers. His favorite piece is "Liebestraum" by Liszt, and boy! How he can play it!

Charlie intends to continue his studies at Harvard University. We are sure that the success which attended him at C. H. S. will continue to remain with him. You have the best wishes of the Class of '31, Charles.

Favorite Expression: "How's your uncle?" Favorite Occupation: Making Goss laff his "hoss" laff.

Fred has been with C. H. S. for only three years, yet he is known and liked as much as, or even more, than most of the rest of us. He has leaped and bounded through his studies, and has gone ahead of ALL of us in regards to studies as well as popularity.

Fred has been a main stay of our football team for three years. The left side of our line has rarely had a hole made through it, as he most always succeeds in wrapping his arms around the legs of some poor, unsuspecting brute.

"Fritz" not only excels in studies and in sports, but, though he did not enter our class until the beginning of this year, he was in our Senior show and in our last Interclass Dramatics play.

The excellence of the Class Book is another testimonial to Fred, for, as Editor-in-chief, he was largely responsible for any success that it might attain.

Next year Fred enters M. I. T., and if he does as well there as he has done here, I am afraid that the others who go there seeking honors will be disappointed.

The Class of 1931 expects great things from you, Fred, and we know that you will continue, in life, just as you have here in C. H. S.—always among the leaders.

All seem to know Helen, although she has not gone the four years through with us. It is known to most of us that Helen joined our ranks in her sophomore year and did just as well as the rest who enrolled the first.

Helen is quite an industrious girl who has not come as yet into the lime light but has preferred to stay in the background. She has not participated in any of the dramatics, but is as well known as if she did.

Don't all ask at once when "Blondie" did her lessons, but we know she did them. And done they were! No one can ever recall her saying, "Got your Stenog done?" She had hers done and needed no one else's. Even if she did attend social activities and enjoyed herself at dances, she certainly had time for her home-work (something that many of us don't get time for). We must say that Helen's activities outside of school were never a detriment to school-work.

Helen's destination has not as yet been decided, though it seems that Fanny Farmer's School of Cooking will be it. And if Helen decides on this school, it certainly will be a good decision. Au revoir, and best wishes follow her.

She is one of the ruling figures of the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association, and oh! what a thrill to see her dance at its many socials.

Vol. I.

1927-28.

Tuesday, Sept. 6—The Freshmen entered High School today. They enter a day before the other c'assmen to get acquainted with the teachers and class rooms. This year the Freshman class have the enrollment of 220 pupils, the largest ever.

Friday, Nov. 11—The class of Freshmen were among those to receive testimonials given at Assembly today.

Thursday, Nov. 24—Clinton High and Milford met at Milford for the annual Thanksgiving football game. Several Freshies were on the squad. This game ended in a scoreless tie.

Thursday Night, Nov. 24—The Minstrel Show, "Minstrel and Musical Revue," was a great success and the High School pupils deserve great credit for the way they put this performance over. This show is opened to all classes and many Freshies were in the chorus.

Monday, Jan. 23—Mid-years started today and you should see the agonized expressions on the poor Freshies' faces.

Tuesday, April 10—The Annual Interclass Dramatic Competition provided an enjoyable entertainment for everyone. The Freshmen only received fourth p'ace, but their show was good and the acting very well done.

Friday, June 22—At the close of each year a class picnic is held at Whalom. It is the first one for the Freshies and they go with the upper classmen. They must have enjoyed themselves, as one could see by their tired, but happy faces.

Wednesday, June 27—Today ends the Freshies' first year of High School. It's been a happy year, and now that they know the "ins" and "outs" of High School, we hope they all return again next year. They've gone with grand and glorious feeling of having grown up since they've left the beginners' class for the Sophomore.

Wednesday, Sept. 5—School again! The Sophomores have returned with but a few missing from their class. Some have probably moved to other towns or maybe they already know enough Latin.

Tuesday, Oct. 9—A certain Sophomore was caught going home without any books. This person was placed on the P. M. Session for two weeks.

Thursday, Nov. 29—Thanksgiving football game was held at Fuller's Field, with Milford the opposing team. Everyone cheered until they were hoarse; however, Clinton's men didn't win, for again the game was a scoreless tie.

Thursday Night, Nov. 29—The usual Minstrel Show has been changed to a Musical Comedy. This feature was so loudly acclaimed by the audience that Musical Comedies will be featured hereafter. "The Bridal Wail" was a "Whale" of a show having the snap that puts a show over big. Sophomores supplied the audience with specialty numbers.

Monday, Jan. 21—Mid-years certainly roll around quickly. The Sophs are busy cramming their heads with French idioms or History dates.

Tuesday, April 2—Time for Inter-class Dramatics but the Sophs' hopes were ruined since their splendid play, "Silence Please," failed to be recognized by the judges for first or second place.

Friday, June 21—Field Day and each class dresses differently, wearing some sort of decoration. The Seniors won the march to Fuller's Field, also the Track Meet, giving them the honor of hanging their banner.

Monday, June 24—Today is the Class picnic and that's why the trucks are outside High School. There go the Sophs now and I'll bet they have a "wow" of a time.

Wednesday, June 26—There goes the dismissal bell and school is out for the Summer. Another year's work is over and next year the Sophs return to resume their studies

Wednesday, Sept. 2—Whom do I hear laughing in the corridors? Why bless me if it isn't the jolly Juniors back and ready for school. As we look around we find one or two missing but the majority of the class is "still hanging on."

Thursday, Oct. 8—Juniors held their class election today and elected officers to carry on the affairs of the class.

Thursday, Nov. 28—The Thanksgiving football game was played at Fuler's Field and the opposing team was Revere. The score was 26-0 in favor of Clinton's men.

Thursday Night, Nov. 28—The Musical Comedy, "Marryin' Marian," was one of the best performances ever given by the High School. The players put their "stuff" across and the show went off "like the snap of a whip."

Monday, Jan. 27—Mid-years! Oh Dear! They're just like a sore tooth always giving somebody a pain. The

Juniors are living up to their reputation of "smile and the world smiles with you."

Tuesday, April 22—Too bad the Interclass Dramatics was another "flop" for the Juniors. Their play, "The Weasel," was well acted so it was a bitter disappointment for them when they didn't win.

Friday, June 20—Field Day,—and the Juniors had a lot of participants in the Track Events. The Juniors very cleverly decorated a buggy with their class colors and the class officers rode in it. The Juniors won second place in the parade.

Wednesday, June 25—The clearing of desks and putting away of books. The third year is over and one hears the hurrying of the Juniors out the main entrance to return again as Seniors.

Thursday, June 26—The Junior Prom was a huge success. The Hall was artistically decorated by committees of the Junior class.

As Freshmen, we lustily raised our voices and sought, for the first time, the notice of the goddess, Drama. To gain her attention, we rode onto the stage in the front seat of that unique little vehicle, "The Telegram."

"The Telegram," as indicated by its name, has something to do with that branch of rapid communication.

Due to a misunderstanding on the part of the telegraph agent, the word "worried" is misspelled in such a manner that it becomes "married." The telegram is from Mrs. Clinton to her children. Upon receipt of it the family is thrown into an uproar. "Mother married again?" After much guessing and investigating as to whom their new father might be, they decide, much to the chagrin of Ann, that it must be Bert, the young man who has been "that way" over Ann. Suddenly mother arrives home, and after a barrage of questions both pro and con, the error is rectified and all ends to the satisfaction of every one concerned.

Our play was good. We admit it, and so did our audience——; but there was a better—and the best one won.

This year after much controversy, we decided to present "Silence Please" to the devoted and faithful audiences of the Interclass Dramatic Competitions.

"Silence Please" is a hilarious domestic comedy. Julia, the young wife, calls her husband, Darrel, to task for gossiping over the telephone for seventeen minutes. He accuses her of being quite as talkative as himself and bets her a new coat against a month of washing the dishes, that she cannot keep silence for half an hour. Julia takes him up on it—the first one to speak to be the loser. After several false starts the endurance test for silence is on. A telephone call nearly disrupts the contest, but Julia effectively silences it. The monotony of the silence is broken by the two with various motions meant to convey several things. Suddenly unexpected visitors, two young friends of Julia, arrive. They see the motions of the couple, and from the sudden freezing of the two at their appearance, together with the silence, they become possessed of the idea that their friends are the victims of convulsions. Madge and Dolinda start to minister to the needs of their friends, concentrating on Darrel, who becomes so exasperated that he speaks. Julia is triumphant. The girls make a haughty exit when they find it was all only a bet. The play ends happily with Julia ready to buy her new coat and Darrel is freed from the necessity of doing the dishes.

Our second try at dramatics faired no better than our first, but we shall not give up the ghost until all hope is gone.

This year our class tried its hand at the ever acceptable crook-type of play.

"The Weasel" has to do with a notorious crook, so named because of his ability to escape the police and outwit them. Betty, our heroine, is sent to visit her aunt because her mother believes her to be too friendly with a certain young man. The young man, Bob, follows Betty and gets a position as her aunt's general man. This same week, the Weasel decides to operate in the vicinity of Aunt Mary's house and use the unsuspecting aunt to help him carry out his plan—the theft of some valuable pearls from a nearby jewelry store. The aunt, however, by some miracle, divines the plot, and sends for a detective. Complications set in when two officers arrive, each declaring that he is the true supporter of the law. Bob intervenes here by disclosing that one is a fake, in fact, a crook, and none other than "The Weasel." He also discloses his identity to Aunt Mary, who gives the young people her blessing and, as usual, the curtain drops on a happy ending.

This year's offering met with no better success than the rest, but while there is life there is hope and we will win yet.

As our last entry in the dramatic competition, the Class of '31 presented the play High Hat, written by one of their classmates.

High Hat, an aristocratic comedy, deals with the schemes of an ambitious young lady, who, not satisfied with a millionaire for a father and a bogus count for a husband, wishes to force her sister to marry the rich bachelor, James Rowland. Billie, the sister, has taken an aversion to Mr. Rowland and makes no secret of the fact or of her preference for James, her chauffeur. She even plans to elope with the young man. On the night of their intended elopement, Mr. Rowland visits the family and Billie is first amazed, and then enraged to find that he is none other than her Jimmy, supposedly her chauffeur. She tells him just what she thinks of him,—and in no uncertain terms. The quarrel, however, like most lovers' quarrels, is finally patched up. A humorous as well as pathetic theme is carried through the play by Adeline, the maid, who is hopelessly infatuated with the handsome chauffeur. Upon learning of his real identity, she takes back her heart and leaves him flat.

There is a saying, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." Our three previous offerings in the dramatic competitions had been able to hold their own, but never quite succeeded in winning. This year, however, the judges and audience decided that '31 well deserved the honor and accordingly it was bestowed.

As our class play, '31 decided to present "The Automatic Butler," a farce in three acts.

When the play opens the Preston household is in an uproar. Mr. Preston is the clerk in a jewelry store and Mrs. Preston keeps boarders to help "make ends meet." Daughter invites mother's one-time sweetheart, now a millionaire, for a visit. Mother is baffled at the thoughts of entertaining the butter king in her small house. She insists upon having a butler and a maid; she gets them. Rather simply too: the new butler is a robot, one of those mechanical men, made of this, that and something else. The robot belongs to one of the boarders, Abdon Bennyworth, who graciously consents to his invention being used. His friend, Elliott Bailey, very much in love with Conny Bryant, the butter king's daughter, however, decided that he shall take the place of the robot and complications ensue. The jewelry store in which Mr. Preston works is robbed and "Big Jim" Mitchell traces the thief to the Preston residence. The maid and an accomplice are located as the crooks and an exciting condition is cleared up. Lily, the family pest, does her share in holding up the comedy end of the play but the real comedy goes to Jenny Sandkitchen, the dumb (?) cook, who amusingly wanders through the play, and like the Royal Mountie, "always gets her man."

Our show was successful and just about the best play treat of the season.

Football

When the boys answered "Joe's" call for football players last September, a very fine group of boys responded, and it looked as if a very successful season was in store for Clinton High School's football huskies.

Last minute cancellations in our schedule, however, caused by our withdrawal from the Massachusetts High School Association made it difficult to secure opponents. Hard work by our coach finally resulted in a schedule of six games—but we had the further misfortune of having three of these games, with very formidable opponents, completely washed out by terrible weather conditions.

The season was opened with the game with Maynard in which Clinton showed its worth by piling up an overwhelming defeat over the opposing team.

The next game was with Wellesley. Clinton scored six points in the earlier part of the game, and then the defense of the opposing team stiffened, and Clinton was unable to score again. In the last few minutes of play, Wellesley managed to tie the score, and the game ended in a tie.

The last game of the season was a return game with Maynard. This game was very fast, and it seemed as though it was going to be a scoreless tie, when Horne ran around the end for the only touchdown of the game.

This year's contributions to the team were Capt. Carlisle, Stuka, Wissenbach, Goss, McDonald, Morrison, Madoff, Bedrick, Shuttleworth, Burke, McMahon, and Conti. We can be sure that all of these boys did their best for the team.

The schedule of games played is as follows:

The prospects of a successful baseball season were very promising. Clinton had resumed athletic relations with Leominster and had entered into the Midland League.

The first game of the year was with St. Mark's. Neither team covered itself with glory but Clinton managed to win by a 11-10 score.

In the league games the team started off like a house afire, defeating Maynard and Marlboro.

Clinton held first position for awhile but a defeat by Marlboro and another by Hudson dropped them into second place.

The team, woke up by this last setback, defeated Maynard in the next game and at the time that we go to press Clinton is tied for first place with only one more league game remaining.

History Circle

President—Thomas O'Toole

Vice-Pres.—Joseph McMahon

Financial Secretary—Mabel Jendrick

Secretary—Stella Scott

The 1931 History Circle, the largest of our extra curricular organizations, was organized under the direction of Mr. McGrail in November when a total of ninety-six Seniors joined. Many pleasant afternoons were spent broadcasting plays, debating, and eating ice cream, but the best affair of all was the epochal trip to Boston, including the visit aboard the U. S. S. Arizona, the greeting of Governor Ely, and, of course, the viewing of "Trader Horn" in Worcester.

Undoubtedly, this club did more to interest Seniors in history than anything else in High School. We hope that future classes may have the same good times that we had as members of the History Circle, and we hope that they will wear their club pins as proudly as the members of '31.

Le Cercle Francais

President—Albert Conti
Vice-President—Marian Ruane

Secretary—Helen Boerner
Treasurer—George Barnes

Our class is the third class to enjoy the privileges and derive the benefits from membership in Le Cercle Francais. This club, conducted so well by Miss Kerrigan, for the practice of conversational French, has been in existence longer than any other club in the school.

There is no doubt but that some of us had a lot of hard work,—although all of us had much fun,—in attempting to carry on a conversation in French at meetings. At the same time, we believe that we all benefited by our attempts to massacre the French language.

Our numerous socials—consisting of plays, sleigh rides, mock trials, etc.—were easily the best of any club in school, and our banquet stands in a class by itself.

We feel that by a combination of work and play, we have greatly supplemented our French course, and we sincerely hope that Le Cercle Francais will continue, as it has in the past three years, to expand and grow more successful with each passing year.

Tau Sigma

President—Gerald Carlisle

Treasurer—Edward O'Toole

The Tau Sigma has successfully completed its first year of existence. Under the faithful and efficient guidance of Mr. Lewis S. Gordon, this organization brings to a close a most beneficial year.

This fraternity, composed of members of the Junior and Senior classes, was established early in the school year with a total membership of about forty.

Its purpose was the betterment of manners and the discussion of general topics pertaining to etiquette. With Mr. Gordon in charge of the bi-monthly meetings, there is no doubt but that this end was attained.

The closing of the year is to be marked by a grand social event, a tea at which the members will have a chance to put into effect all the manners that Mr. Gordon has given his valuable time to teach.

This organization has been most beneficial to those who belonged to it, and it has done a great deal toward preparing them to fight the battle of life.

Orchestra

Many of our assemblies, during the past year, have been devoted to music and because of this, an orchestra composed of High School pupils has become more and more a necessity. Because of the very fine programs arranged from time to time by Miss Driscoll, and her excellent commentary remarks on the characteristics of various composers, we have learned a great deal about various types of music. At such assemblies the orchestra has illustrated the characteristics in question by playing selections from the composers.

The quality of the music furnished by the orchestra at graduation is indeed a tribute to Miss Driscoll and reflects, in no small manner, her patience and hard work in molding together from a heterogeneous group, an ensemble which is indeed a credit to our school.

It is indeed deplorable that a school the size of Clinton High should not have a larger orchestra. We sincerely hope that those possessing any talent on any orchestral instrument will turn out in the future and give our musical supervisor a satisfactory opportunity to demonstrate her capabilities and talent.

1931 Class Song

Words by Irene Brennan and Marguerite Munster

Tune: University of Virginia Cavalier Song

The time has come, oh classmates all,
When we leave our school behind.
As we part and go our different ways,
Our life's success to find,
Sad are hearts at parting
From dear old Clinton High,
But we belong to yesterday—
And tomorrow soon draws nigh.

Now we greet the fight for worldly fame,
But deep in each loyal heart
There lingers a train of mem'ries dear
That awake when we must part.
The years seemed long in passing by
As we pressed ever on,
But as we stand at Life's dim door
Our happiest days are gone.

We will hold her in our memories
And she ne'er will be forgot,
For a true friend she has proved to us
Through the teaching she has taught;
"Service above Self" always,
And then we're sure to win;
For with our motto leading on
Her light shall find Success.

CHORUS

Lift high your heads and sing farewell
To dear old Clinton High.
Lift high your hopes and journey on
Till you fulfill your aims.
Go with the fondest memories
Of days at Clinton High!
Go with her courage; her spirit
Shall make all your dreams come true!

C'est assez, bien.
Hello, Abie.
One, two, three—bang! You're out.
Don't mention it; the pleasure is all yours.
We'll have this talking s-s-stopped.
What's that, a reminiscence of last night?
To whom are you paying attention?
Ixnay, Amscray.
There are four doors.
Now, Miss B——, say it louder.
Take this dictation? That was a hundred a minute. How many got it?
Transcribe it.
Have your maps in Monday.
There will be no more pencils sharpened this period.
Ye Gods and little fishes!
When the bell rings pick up the papers around your desk.
If not, why not?
Write the chapter out five times.
Take THOSE words.
That's Wonderful.
Howdy.
Out of my way.
Gosh!
WHOA.
Hey! Oh, Becky.
This is a SPEARICAL triangle.
It's the same thing only different.
All right now, three guesses.

Try Smiling

When the weather suits you not,
Try Smiling.
When the coffee isn’t hot,
Try Smiling.
When your neighbors don’t do right,
Or the relatives all fight,
Sure it’s hard, but then you might
Try Smiling.

Doesn’t change the things of course,
Just Smiling.
But it cannot make them worse,
Just Smiling.
And it seems to help your case,
Brightens up a gloomy place,
Then it sort of rests your face,
Just Smiling.

Mr. Mitchell—State an English derivative of the Latin word "do."

Freshman—Doughnuts!

Miss Kerrigan—State the agreement of "marchée".

Goss—Well, for instance take the sentence—I walked 10,000 miles.

Mr. McGrail (Explaining gold standard)—Explain the reference "16 to 1."

Genakis—It has something to do with betting.

Mr. McGrail—Miss Naughton, will you please tell me the name of a product that grows in the South?

Miss Naughton (greatly flustered)—Oh, fish!

Foreword to Advertisers

---

The following pages are devoted to the interests of business men who are believers in

They do not seek a one-sided bargain.

They ask our support and they give us their aid.

They are real CLINTON HIGH men although many of Them never knew as students, the spirit of dear old C. H. S.

Let us help these merchants who believe in helping us.

READ THEIR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Patronize these merchants.

Carry the traditions of CLINTON HIGH fair play
and sportsmanship
